

SE0033

ABSTRACT

A system and associated methodology for performing a fast add rotate add operation is disclosed. Two separate addition functions conventionally separated by a shift operation are performed as a single operation thereby reducing the number of acts 5 and resources required to perform the add rotate add operation.